

PETER MOODY, Member, WIPO Panel of Mediators, Senior Consultant, Brookstreet Des Roches, UK

Peter Moody is a private practice lawyer in England and deals with a range of commercial matters and complex litigation, with an emphasis on intellectual property. He has extensive experience in large technology and contract disputes, trade mark disputes, issues surrounding personality rights and branding and art sector disputes. Many of his projects have an international element, with overseas clients or commercial arrangements in different jurisdictions. He frequently works collaboratively with lawyers around the world. Peter has been involved in numerous international arbitrations and mediations and is an accredited mediator (World Intellectual Property Organisation, Panel Mediator since 2006 and Intellectual Trade Mark Association, Panel of Trade Mark Mediators since 2008).

Peter has acted as mediator in complex international disputes. He also runs a legal consultancy which advises and represents the hospitality sector, including hotels, restaurants, celebrity chefs, nightclubs and members clubs, on commercial issues, in particular intellectual property.

He has lectured extensively and conducted training programmes on commercial disputes and mediation in the USA, Europe (Belgium, Holland, Moldova, Serbia, Spain, Switzerland, UK), and South East Asia.
